Understanding Characterization in Literature

Directions: There are five major ways that character is revealed. Once you have finished reading your novel, decide which character was the protagonist and which character was the antagonist. Complete the characterization chart below with examples from the novel, and then describe in complete sentences what each novel example taught you about the character. The last column is the most important part of your grade. If you cannot find an example for each box, please explain in the box why you couldn't find an example.
